Death of George W. Uttermoehle.
 George W. Uttermoehle, one of the oldest inhabitants of the District, died yesterday afternoon at his residence on Capitol Hill. The deceased was a native of Germany and came to this city in 1852. For many years he kept a tailor shop, but, having amassed a little money, he invested in real estate. It is said that he never made an unprofitable investment, and, at the time of his death, it is estimated that he owned 500 houses and was worth $1,500,000. THE PREHISTORIC DISTRICT.

Interesting Papers Read Before the Anthropological Society.

The Anthropological Society held its 151st meeting at the assembly hall of the Cosmos Club last night, and it was more than ordinarily interesting from the fact that the prehistoric conditions of this locality were described. Professor O. T. Mason, in his opening statement, said that it was intended to disseminate knowledge concerning the period from the time the first man set foot upon our neighboring soil to the time when the aborigines were driven out.

"The Geologic Data" formed the subject of the first paper, read by W. J. Motie. Mr. Thomas Wilson, in his paper upon "Pleistocene Implements," commented on the subdivisions of the prehistoric ages of man.

Discussing "Old Camp Sites and Aboriginal Workshops in the District of Columbia," Mr. S. V. Proudt said that the most important of the aboriginal village sites was one stretching along the eastern shore of the Potomac, from the lower reservoir to the Little Falls.

"Shell Heaps" was the subject of Dr. Elmer R. Reynolds' paper. The largest and what may be regarded as the typical mounds near Potomac, said he, "are situated near Newburg, Md."

Mr. W. H. Holmes spoke on "Pottery and Textiles," describing the various collections of pottery and their uses for culinary and sacred purposes, the manner of their decoration, which, he said, was suggested by textural combinations.

Mr. James Mooney's paper was on "Indian Tribes of the Potomac Region." He related Captain Smith's experience in 1608, as told by himself and the described the habits, customs, warfare and ceremonies of the Indians who occupied the Potomac valley.

After all the papers had been read, Professor F. W. Putnam of Harvard University, director of the Peabody Museum of Ethnology, delivered an address, throwing much new and interesting light on the various subjects.

A Deserved Compliment.

Mr. P. M. Furlong, assistant foreman in charge of the stereotype and electrotype division of the Government Printing Office, resigned Saturday and has assumed charge of the foundry of the DeVinne Press Company of New York. Concerning Mr. Furlong's connection with the Government Printing Office the Government Printer said that he had advanced the work of his division by the introduction of success and perfection as to attract the attention of the trade not only throughout this country, but the world at large, and it is unfortunate for the public service that his best interests require him to sever his relations here.

"I esteem his selection by Mr. DeVinne a great honor," said Mr. Furlong, "and I am glad to be placed in charge of the foundry. He has been in the office since 1869."

A Hint About Bridal Presents.

"It is scarcely the right thing," said a young bride, "to look a gift horse in the mouth; and yet it is hard to speak one's mind on a matter of this kind. It does seem to me that people might think a while before buying wedding presents. I am sure if they had done so I should not have received nine biscuit-boxes. What am I to do with them all? I can only use one at a time, or at the most, two. Now, what is to be done with the other seven? It is too perplexing. If I could only show them it wouldn't be so bad, but I can't even do that."

"Dear me! I don't know why you should worry over such a little thing as that," observed her sister, who had been married nine years. "These extra biscuit-boxes will be very useful by-and-by. Select the one or two you want to keep, and then put the others carefully away. Whenever any of your friends marry, let a biscuit-box be your gift. I'll save you lots of money. When I was married I received six biscuit-boxes among my presents. I was cross until some one gave me the hint that I have just given you, and then I was happy. It wasn't long before I had made good use of the five fish-servers."

Not an Unreasonable Allowance.

"Drummers" are a necessary evil for the time being, and some of them make an excuse for their existence by being able to tell from time to time a good story. One who is staying for a few days at a certain boarding-house in this city, in order to average up heavy expenses in another city, tells this little anecdote. A train in Arizona was boarded by robbers, who went through the luckless passengers. One of them happened to be a Hebrew "drummer" from New York, who, when his turn came, with fear and reluctance, fished out $200.

He rapidly took $4 from the pile and placed it in his vest pocket.

"What do you mean by that?" asked the gentle robber as he toyed with his revolver.

Hurriedly came the answer: "Mine friend, you surely could not refuse to pay me for my services on a strictly cash transaction like this?"

He got the discount.—(Denver News.)

Of Interest to Bicyclist

Jersey Ribbed Bicycle Riding Suits for Youths and Men. Made from a strong firmly-woven worsted, or long-combed wool, is ribbed, thus adding elasticity to strength. Does not bind or impede the free movements of the wearer, and equal to every strain. The Jersey Shirt has pockets and collar attached, and otherwise finished like a flannel shirt. Knee Pants, with pockets, belt loops and re-enforced seat, complete the suit. The best we have yet seen in the Way of a Bicycle Suit for the price.

Men's Windsor Ties.
 We have just secured a thousand T-willed Silk Windsor ties for wear with the comfortable Flannel Shirts. Great variety of attractive patterns and colorings. Last season's price for these Ties was 50c. We shall sell these at 35c each, 3 for $1. They are 5 inches wide and 41 inches long, full size and cheap.

FLANNEL SHIRTS.
 There appears to be a very little doubt of it—the Flannel Shirt will be more generally worn this summer than ever before. The clear, clean-looking, attractive stripes and checks in beautiful, soft-toned colorings, have no doubt been the lever that raised them into popular favor. An authority on Men's fashions says: "They may be worn on almost any occasion, except where full dress is required."

We have shown our faith in the popularity of the Flannel Shirt by having in the largest supply of any previous season, and, in addition, we have secured a beautiful line of wash Silks, Silk-and-Wool and fine Scotch unshrinkable Flannels, from which we are making the shirts to order. Present buyers secure the advantage of an unbroken assortment.
